22) A medical school for training Sub-Asst Surgeons, to be really efficient would be very costly - Considering the needs of the State and the limited capacity of our rural tracts to maintain ~~higher~~ medical men of the rank of Sub-Asst Surgeons, it seems to me better to continue to get our Sub-Asst Surgeons trained abroad by the scholarship system. If we open a medical school for training Sub-Asst Surgeons then either (a) the standard of training will be lowered or (b) the cost per pupil will be very high or (c) we shall have to train students for tracts outside my purse.

23) The best course is to get S. A. S's trained outside but to open a school for training Rural medical practitioners on the lines indicated in the report of the Medical Relief Committee -

The question of starting a Medical School in Bangalore was urged on Government for consideration by Lt. Col. J. Smyth in a memorandum dated 3rd January 1911, but after due consideration, it was allowed to lie over for a time -at any rate until the - establishment of the University in Mysore was decided upon.

2. A reference has now been received from the Madras Government through the Residency stating that it has become necessary to increase the existing - facilities for the training of candidates who will enter Government service or take up private practice in the Presidency itself, as the demand for Sub-Assistant Surgeons for the Government service has been steadily increasing and in addition a large number of private pupils are seeking admission into the - Medical Schools, but owing to the limited accommodation available, it is found possible to train only - a small proportion of the applicants, and enquiring whether the Mysore Government contemplate opening a new Medical School or College in connection with the University and whether it will not be possible for us to arrange for the training of Sub Assistant Surgeons for our service in our own institutions.

for remarks and his opinion* is that the proposal to open a Medical School for Sub Assistant Surgeons will be very costly and that considering the needs of the State service and the limited capacity of our rural areas to maintain private practitioners of that rank, it is better to get our Sub Assistant Surgeons trained abroad and open a school here for training rural medical practitioners.

*Part of all the notes given in the note

5. In view, however, of the observations of the Madras Government as to their own pressing needs in the matter, it seems desirable that we should make our own arrangements to train Sub Assistant Surgeons.

6. Accordingly, a draft* reply to the Residency is put up for approval and further action on the - - lines of the discussion in Council will be taken - - after issue of the letter to the Residency.

Letter No. 2548-4, dated the 14th June 1916, from the Secretary to the Government of Madras, Public Department, to the Hon'ble the Resident in Mysore.

DIARY No. 561

I am directed to address you on the subject of the admission of Sub Assistant Surgeon pupils in receipt of stipends from the Mysore Durbar into the medical schools of this Presidency.

2. Under the arrangements sanctioned in 1870(vide letter from the Chief Commissioner of Mysore No. 3668-27 G, dated the 14th October 1870) the maximum number of Mysore pupils to be admitted annually into the medical schools of this Presidency was fixed at 8. The number actually admitted into the schools and the total number under instruction during each of the last six years is given below:-

year.	No of pupils admitted in the year.	Total No. of pupils under instruction.
1909-10	8	11
1910-11	9	19
1911-12	11	30
1912-13	21	49
1913-14	13	53
1914-15	14	59

3. During the last few years, the annual demand for Sub-Assistant Surgeons for the Government service has been steadily increasing in this Presidency. Side by side with this, there has also been a very large increase in the number of private pupils seeking admission into the Medical schools. Owing, however, to the limited accommodation available, it is found possible to train only a small proportion of the applicants. The Governor in Council is anxious in view of the serious shortage of qualified medical men in the presidency, to increase the existing facilities for the training of candidates who will enter Government service or take up private practice in the

the Presidency itself. I am directed to enquire whether it is proposed to open a new Medical school or College in connection with the projected Mysore University and whether it will not be possible for the Mysore Durbar to arrange for training in their own institutions of all the Sub Assistant Surgeons required for the state service. In case such action is contemplated I am directed to ask when it may be expected to take effect.
